

Are your leaders agile enough to face today's challenges?

ART of Leadership

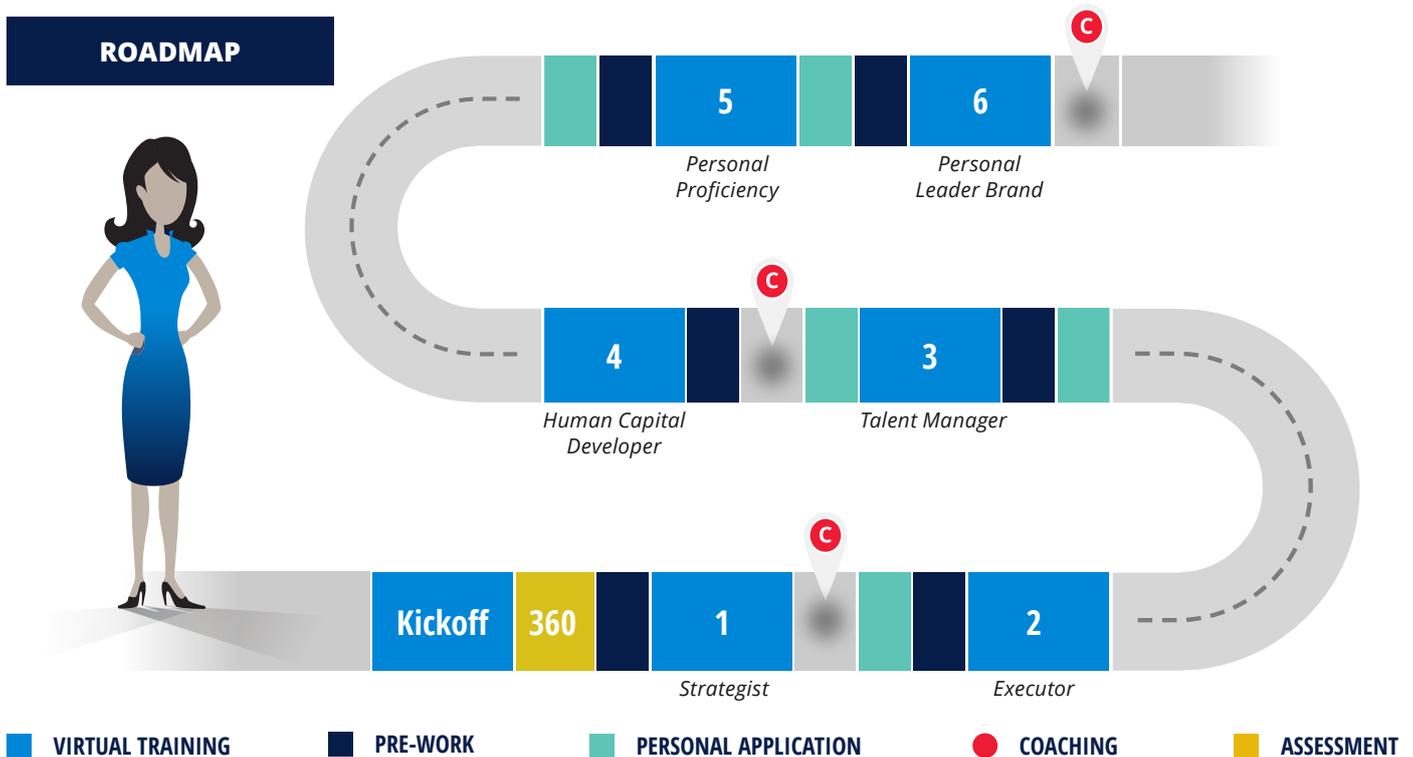

Build Leaders that Build Confidence in the Future

In a time when confidence is lacking, what does it take for customers and investors to feel confident in your leaders? RBL has synthesized the best research and identified competencies and practices to build effective, customer focused leaders. This hands-on virtual leadership program can help build your high-potential leaders and increase confidence in your organization's leadership capability.

VIRTUAL INSTRUCTOR LED DEVELOPMENT (VILD)

Tired of virtual training that's either too academic, or where participants don't do much with it once the webinar is over? Let RBL show you how our immersive VILD methodology is different. In RBL's highly customizable VILD programs, participants own the process, but are led by expert facilitators and supported by relevant pre-work (reading, stakeholder interviews, exercises, and more). Post-session work includes specific assignments to apply learning to individual and organizational needs and sessions dedicate time to sharing learnings and challenges participants encountered as they applied the research-based concepts in their day-to-day world. The result is participants who are actively engaged in learning and changing how they lead as a result of the program.

ROADMAP

PARTICIPANTS WILL:

- Understand the key competencies and behaviors required for effective leadership.
- Explore what's important to customers and how to meet the needs of your best customers.
- Identify the leader's role in helping employees achieve peak performance.
- Learn various career transitions people move through and how to help them create the career they want.
- Learn to build competence in your team and for the organization using the 6Bs.
- Learn the elements of accountability and how to establish them with your team.
- Strengthen intellectual agility to be able to meet demands and deliver results.
- Turn your leadership point-of-view into the Personal Leader Brand by which you'd like to be known.